PRIDGEON'S COFFIN.

The Evangelist's Wife Objects to its Eeing Taken Home,

But the Eccentric Old Preacher Carries His Point.

ATLANTA, GA., April 11 .- Dr. Pridgeon, the man who proached his own funeral sermon near Athens last Sunday, has had trouble with his family. After the ser-mon was all over he desired to carry the coffin home with him and put it away un-til such time as its services should be r His wife, who had quietly borne all of his foolish whims up to this time, asserted her authority and declared that the coffin should not enter her house until there was some cause for its presence. She was so firm that he perwas carried to a neighbor's house, where permission to leave it was obtained after considerable persuasion. That night the mone i and restoratives applied. It was preacher studied over the matter until he half an hour before she recovered. Look could not rest. He got up, dressed him-self and waited for day, and with the first rays of dawn he went after the coffin, and, bringing it to his home, has kept it there over all opposition. His wife says she will not live in the house with the coffin, and things point to a divorce between the evangelist and his spouse. Dr. Pridgeon's first wife was a Miss Willoughby, and her parents had their coffice made long before their death and kept them in the house, their children using them to keep their hats in. He said if his coffin was shaped a little differently it would answer the place of a wardrobe, and his wife would not object to its presence until he needed it

CHICAGO, April 11 .- A fire in the base neut of the Franklin House, a small hotel on Van Buren street, about two o'clock this morning, created a panic and nearly resulted in loss of life. The twenty guests made their escape with very little clothing. Fifteen made their way down the stairs through dense clouds of smoke and were nearly smothered. Edward Bower, his wife and three children, were awakened by the noise in the halls. Bower lost his wits, and, springing from bed, he seized his two boys, aged five and seven years, and dropped them from the window. Fortunately, the firemen below caught them safely. Bower, his wife and their baby were then brought down a ladder.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 12 .- "Happy Bob" Van Brunt, a member of the Salvation Army, will be hanged at Warsaw, N. Y., to-morrow for the murder of Frank Roy. Bob was courting Eva Roy, Frank's sister. Frank objected, and in a quarrel which re sulted Bob shot and killed his sweet heart's brother. An unusual scene was enacted in the Governor's room to-day in connection with this case. Miss Roy arrived here last evening, and this morn ing made an impassioned appeal to Governor Hill to commute Van Brunt's sen tence to imprisonment for life. The Governor received her kindly, listened to her appeal, went over the points in the case, and tried to show her how, as he saw it there was no ground on which Executive elemency could be extended, and con-cluded by saying that the law must take its course. Miss Ray grew deathly pale at these words, and her head dropped and she fell in a faint. A physic an was sum ing about her in a dazed sort of way, the cried, "Poor Bob, poor Bob," and sank back upon the sofa in another swoon. At last, finding that she recovered consciousness only to relapse into uncon sciousness, it was decided to send her to the hospital, which was done. Her eyes were glassy, her face hot and feverish. and she seemed oblivious to every thing going on around her. The girl is com-pletely broken down, and there is no end of pity for her. The belief is general that she is still in love with Van Brunt, though she denies it and declares she hates him.

One Brown Discovered to Have Taken Un

May Not All Be In. DETROIT, MICH., April 12.—On December 20 a license was issued by the clerk of Wayne County for the marriage of William M. Brown, for Cleveland, aged forty, and Mrs. Robertson, of this c age I thirty-eight. About two weeks later, the bride called upon the minister who performed the ceremony with a request for a duplicate of her marriage certificate, stating that her husband had stolen the original and fled. About this time the county clerk received a letter from the authorities at Pontiac warning him to look out for A. W. J. Brown, who was roaming around seeking whom he might marry. He did not appear, however, until March 24, by which time the warning had been forgotten, and a license was issued permitting Wilbur J. Brown to wed Anna Winter. The uple were duly married, and left the city for Monroe. Detectives have been at work on the case for several days, and as a result of their investigations it is said that not less twenty victims of Brown's matrimonial ventures have been discovered

The Knobbers. 87. Louis, April 12.—The jury in the case of David Walker, leader of the Bald-knobof Ozark, Mo., returned verdict this forenoon first degree, James Matthews, Wm. Stanley, Amos Jones and C. C. Simmons, the preacher, were sentenced by the court, three of them having pleaded the second deto murder in the second de-gree. Stanley and Jones got twenty-one years in the penitentiary; Simmons, fif-teen years and Matthews was released on $1,000 bail. Stanley took his sentence very hard and told the judge that he was very severe, and Simmons made a very pathetic appeal to the court. It is said that nobody believes that Simmons is morally guilty of crime.

HOU'SE, The House devoted its entire session to-day to the consideration of the resolution providing that the Governor shall appoint commissioners to investigate the various State offices and institutions, with the assistance of two experts. An amendment was adopted requiring that one of the experts shall be a Republican. The balance of the time was occupied in voting down amen/ments and calling the yeas and nays on dilatory motions. Finally, at nearly two o'clock an adjournment was effected by a vote of 31 to 30. A substitute has been offered for the resolution providing that the present session adjourn April 16 (the time now fixed) and return again in November, but it is safe to say that 'it will not be adopted and that the flowers of May will be here before the Legislature returns to its beloved concitivents.

Frankfort, April 12.—Senate.—Mr. Goobel called up a House bill authorizing the county commissioners of Kenton County to provide a system of free turnpikes and perform other duties with an amendment. The amendment was adopted and the bill passed. The House-resolution extending the session to May 4th was then taken up, and occupied the remainder of the session. Those opposed to an extension determined that a vote should not be taken othe resolution, and all sorts of delay motions were made, and every thing was done to kill time till the hour of adjournment arrived. The fillbusters succeeded, and they say they intend to keep it up till next Monday, and force the Legislature to adjourn on that day whether they want to or not.

Cole, of that district, were the leading men of both Houses, and all of them signed the majority report except Mr. Thomas. He agreed with them as to the condition of matters in Rowan County, but did not think Judge Cole should be censured in any way, as the majority suggested. When the matter came to a vote this morning his minority report was adopted by the House by a vote of 44 to 38. Mr. Reed then moved to refer all that part of the report that concerned the dismemberment of Rowan County to the Judiciary Committee, and the motion earried.

Bills introduced: For the benefit of the Colored State Normal School; to regulate the conduct of transportation corporations, and to provide for taxation of their property. The first thing in the unfinished business was the geological survey bill. As the previous question was in operation the speechifying was cut off, and a vote upon the amendments was commenced. All were voted down but one, which provides that the work shall be commenced in those counties that have not yet received any benefits, and afterward the work that has been commenced is to be finished. The original bill then passed, and a motion to reconsider was said on the table. The insurance bill, to compol all companies to obtain State licenses before they can do business, was then taken up, but was defeated. Mr. Blanford entered a motion to reconsider, and the opposition moved to table. James Mulligan then moved to adjourn until Monday and spoke the time ont. CASTLE BUILDING.

- What are you building darling?"
 I asked of my girlie fair,
 as she quietly sat on the hearth-rug,
 Piling her blocks with care,
 and the ruddy glow of the fire light
 Danced on her golden hair.
- "I am building a castle, mother,"
 My little maid replied—
 "And these are the walls around it,
 And head is a gateway wide,
 and this is a funny stairway
 To climb up by the side."
- The busy, flitting fingers
 Went on with her pretty play,
 And the castle's walls were rising
 In the fading winter day—
 When a sudden, luckless motion,
- Ah, merry little builder, The years with stealthy feet, May bring full many a vision, Of castles rare and sweet— To end like your baby-pastimes In ruin sad and fiect.
- You laugh o'er the toy walls fallen
 So sunshine follows rain,
 And we may smile, looking backward
 At ruined shrine and fane—
 While the heart hath shattered temples
 It may not build again.

How I Would Teach a Boy to be a True Bayard.

And Alice was engaged to a Toptree, and they were such an ancient family

My name is plain Mary, and nothing else. Mamma often told me that she nearly called me "Rose Mary"—and that would have been pleasant, for in the language of flowers it means "re-

When Jack Turpin went off to sea-as ship surgeon—she bowed him out of the front door herself, and didn't give him a chance to say good-bye to me, only she couldn't see, as I did, the pleading look in his eyes that said, "be true to me." I knew, though not a word was spoken. But papa shook hands warmly and said, "Give us the light of your countenance again, John," and I thought it perfectly sweet of the white-haired old darling. But then papa isn't a "mother with marriageable girls," so he can say things.

It was that set mamma so much against Phil Rowlock, and there comes my grievance. He was talking to the fair Ethel Winman one evening, and when speaking of a mutual acquaint-ance, chanced to say: "Of course she encourages all the young men to the house, for she has marriageable and took down all my medical books, othe house, for she has marriageable and took down all my medical books, outlined, and thoroughly renovate the system, the same and packing away all unnecessary artitles. So I was provoked at Phil, for he is a up my career for his sake. "You are good sort of a boy, only he thinks it a successful failure, dearest," he sounds big to sneer at girls. I often wonder that boys with sisters can do it. And then I told them a bit in the papers inferior, and when we reached home about a class being asked "Why Moses and the boys called me a "little brick," and Alice Toptree gave me a warm wel-Jethro went to draw water the shep-herds drove them away, but Moses mamma and said: "What a relief it helped them, and said to the shepherds:

"Ladies first, please."

And I hope Moses did it in a friendly sort of way, as one chum might to another, and not as if the girls were his inferiors in any way. Whittier knows what I mean, for he wrote:

"O for a Knight like Bayard.

"O for a Knight like Bayard.

"O, for a Knight like Bayard, Without represend or fear."

And I always thought he was one of that sort himself.

Well, after that, mamma was more severe than ever, and talked severely about ladies who were too free and easy with their girls, and Phil didn't come back, and Jack Turpin was at

And then one day papa's second cousin, Randolph Massey, came to visit us. He was a model young man and stop for Randolph to hold the door open and bow us out, I assure you. It was in the laundry, and a cold north wind made it dangerous for the house. Will was away, there was only papa, who had rheumatism, and Tom, who was dizzy with a raging headache, to go up on that roof and hold the hose. I went up the loy ladder, and was busisfeet, which were well known to possess luck in no mean proportions.—St. Louis I globe-Democrat.

when I felt myself held up by strong arms—and turned resentfully to find "Jack." He took the hose from my hand, but took the hand, too, and held me, saying wildly: "I've got you at last, dear, and I mean to keep you, though it is as breezy up here as the teamer's deck." And he held me fast and put out the fire at the same time, while mamma, who dare not mount, kept calling:

"Who is up there with you Mary?"

And all this time Bayard the Knight, who was ever ready to anticipate our slightest wish, sat by the fire in the library and smoked cigars, for it was "too cold to venture out when there was so much help, you know."

And mamma didn't say a word, even when Jack helped me put on my cloak after our toilets were renovated, and boldly took me for a long walk. I suppose she thought fate too much for her, taking the trouble to land him on the roof to find me for once alone.

But Dorothy was angry and so was Alice. "To think of you, who always said you had a career, and would never marry, taking np with a boy like Jack, said my eldest sister, who gloried in Fenwick being a dozen years the senior, and then Dorothy began: "Yes, and after all the study you have done, to give yourself away like that," but when I looked into dear Jack's dark eyes I was amply contented.

I did want to study medicine, and had pictured to myself the good I would do in the world when I got through college and put up my shingle. I had studied many books, practiced on many cut fingers, and made bushels of poultices. Mamma never used to act time that, till Alice was engaged. It makes all the difference in the world when you have a sister who assumes the "going to be married" dignity, and gets private letters that she goes off into a corner to and wears a ring with a real diameter that she goes off into a corner to and wears a ring with a real diameter that she goes off into a corner to a land wears a ring with a real diameter that she goes off into a corner to a land wears a ring with a real diameter that she goes off into a corner to a land wears a ring with a real diameter that she goes off into a corner to a land wears a ring with a real diameter that she goes off into a corner to a land wears a ring with a real diameter that she goes off into a corner to a land wears a ring with a real diameter that she goes off into a corner to a land wears a ring with a real diameter that she goes off into a corner to a land wears a ring with a real diameter that she goes off into a corner to a land wears a ring with a real diameter that she goes off into a corner to a land wears a ring with a real diameter that she goes off into a corner to a land wears a ring with a real diameter that she goes off into a corner to a land wears a ring with a real diameter than the corner to a land wears a ring with a real diameter than the corner to a land wears a ring with a real diameter than the corner to a land wears a ring with a real diameter than the corner to a land wears a ring with a real diameter than the corner to a land wears a ring with a real diameter than the corner to a land wears a ring with a real diameter than the corner to a land wears a ring with a real diameter than the corner to a land wears a ring with a real diameter than the corner to a land wears a ring with a real diameter than the corner to a land wears a ring with a real diameter than the corner to a land wears a ring with a real diameter than the corner to a land wears a ring with a real diameter than the corner to a land wears a ring with a real diameter than the corn helped mamma pull all the children through the measles and scarlet fever, taking both diseases myself after they were all better, and helping the doctor set Tom's leg and cure Harry's gunshot wound, when Dick mistook him for a partidge, all made me handler seended to come into the family, for Alice looked down on Dorothy and I had to be married before Alice, and I had t taking both diseases myself after they Jack and I went back to the sea-and all through my brain during a long siege of sea-sickness, ran the refrain:

What is it That is Killing so many Prominent Men?

The death of Kaiser Wilhelm, ex-Gov. Hoffman, Banker J. W. Drexel, Lieut-Gov. Dorsheimer, Dr. Carpenter, Chief-Justice Waite and Gen. B. H. Frewster, in quick succession, and all from the sam cause, although having different names, is startling. March and April are fatal months, not only for consumptives but also for many only for consumptives but also for many diseases more disguised but none the less

Gov. Hoffman had heart disease, Gov. Dorsheimer, apparently a strong, well, robust man, over six feet high, sickens and dies in four days of pneumonia.

Chief-Justice Waite meets the same fate and he was apparently the personification of vigor.

Drexel, the Philadelphia banker, and Brewster, Ex-Atty. Genl., were suddenly cut off in the midst of great usefulness, by Bright's disease, and Dr. Carpenter, the well-known New York physician, suddenly died of Kidney disease, never having suspected that he was at all troubled therewith!

This reminds us of the case of Dr. Frank Hawthorn, of New Orleans. He was lectur-ing before the Louisiana university on the peculiarly deceptive character of Kidney disease and the methods of microscopical and chemical tests.

and chemical tests.

After having shown specimen after specimen of diseased fluids, and made very clear the point that kidney disease may exist without the knowledge or suspicion of the patient or practitioner, with gracious self-confidence he remarked: "Now, gentlemen, the healthy water of s confidence he remarked: "Now, gentlemen, let me show you the healthy water of s strong, well man."

He applies the test!
He staggers!
"Gentlemen, I have made a terrible discovery!" he gasps, "I myself have the fatal Bright's disease!"

Bright's disease!"

In less than a year this specialist of the commonest and most fatal of diseases was dead. He was a victim of advanced Kidney disease the presence of which in himself he had never suspected!

L. B. PRICE, M. D., a gentleman and physician of the highest standing of Hanover, C. H., Va., four years ago, after trying every other remedy for Bright's disease, including famous mineral waters, cured himself by Warner's Safe Cure, and March 24, 1888, wrote: "I have never had the slightest symptoms of my old and fearful trouble."

Mr. John Doherty, of Concord, N. H., was given up with Bright's disease by the best phys clans in 1872. He was in a dreadful state. After using and being cured in 1881 by Warner's Safe Cure, in 1887, he wrote: "I am better than ever."

John Coleman, Esq., 100 Gregory St., New Haven, Conn., was first taken sick in 1873, gradually ran down until he had pronounced Bright's disease, rheum tilsm and all the other deceptive signs of kidney disease. The best physicians in New Haven could do nothing for him. He then began using Warner's Safe Cure, 200 bottles of which he and h's fam ly have used and he is cured.

W. T. CRAWFORD, proprietor St. Charles Hotel, Richmond, Va., and well known all through the South, several years ago was in the death-agony from kidney disease, convulsions and Bright's disease. The best Philadelphia specialists in such diseases pronounced him practically dead and incurable. Every thing else falling he took Warner's Safe Cure abundantly and reguarly, until fully restored to health, and now he says: "After a lapse of dantly and reguardy, until fully restored to health, and now he says: "After a lapse of many years I am as sound as a dollar, with no symptoms of my old trouble. I owe my life to Warner's Safe Cure."

to warner's Safe Cure.

Kidney disease is the most deceptive, the most universal, the most fatal disease.

If the most learned men can not know without the use of microscopical and chemical tests that they have kidney disease, how much more liable is the layman to be, un-known to himself, in the very jaws of death, who does not feel as well as formerly, but who does not think anything specially ails him, and whose physician may assure him that he will soon be "all right."

In these days, people recognize that it is wiser to prevent disease than to await its arrival to cure it. When you know that you may be in the greatest peril and not have any idea of the fact from any defined set of ill-feelings, the wisest course to pursue is to follow the counsel and experience above

One day an irresistible impulse seized her, as she says, to get that needle and jab it into herself. She did so and felt much better instantly. The needle has been on its travels without interruption ever since, and she has had perfect health. She couldn't be persuaded now to have it taken out. About a year ago the needle made its appearance at her left wrist, and the location of both ends of it was clearly discernible. A CUTTING REBUKE.

came under my very ears and eyes the other day. Two young men were sit-ting in their cozy bachelor quarters, a room in a private house fronting on Dearborn avenue. The gentlemen were intelligent, social fellows and they were regarded in the house more as members of the family than as lodgers or Loarders. The lady of the house has two bright little girls aged three and five years. With their moth er's permission they were in the habit of carrying their dolls and other playthings into the rooms of the young men and there sitting in the middle of the floor the little prattlers would spend many an hour. At this particular time there were present in the room the two young men with their feet on the stove talking politics and the two children on the floor playing with dolls. Now one young man was a Democrat, the other a Republican. The result was an exciting controversy and finally an oath from one by way of emphasis. Quick as a flash little five-year-old jumped to her feet, gathered her dres skirt full of toys, and said to her innocent baby sister, 'Come, Clara, let us go quick! I do not think mamma would like us hear such language." Before the young men could recover from their surprise the children and toys had disappeared through the door. It was a rebuke that cut deep. There was no more discussion of politics that evening, and the young Chicago law ver who uttered that oath will not only the incident, which he does often, he proudly states that he has not used a profane expression since the little girl's sermon.—Chicago Journal.

Some time ago an engineer on the Little Miami railroad was suspended because after baring box attacked because after baring box. because, after having been examined by Dr. Clark, he was found to be quite deaf. The engineer claimed at the time that he could hear every thing while running his engine, but the doctor found that in a still room he could not hear at ordinary conversation a foot away. The engineer lives at Cincin-Do Not Fail to Heed nati and received treatment in that city for his disease, but without any special benefit. The doctor thought he would test the case and, accompanying the man to Cincinnati, made a number of experiments with him on engines. The result was that the doctor found the engineer was not only telling the truth in regard to the matter, but also that the deaf man could hear low remarks
